More Family Games

There's the possibility of rain today, so why not play a family game? No box needed, this one's a goodie!

Pictionary.....drawing

You'll need paper and pencils for everyone.

Make a set of cards of things it would be fun to draw: animals, things around the house, food, insects, places in the world, transport.....

Older children might like to draw the names of TV programmes, books, sports, places in a town, famous pop stars/football players, different jobs

Play in teams where one person takes a card, draws it and their team guesses; or play individually where you set a time (2mins?) and at the end of the time everyone has to guess. Points are given for the correct number of guesses.

Pictionarymodelling! If you have any playdough or plasticine this is a really fun variation. Make a model rather than draw! Have fun!
